SIX HUNDRED DEAD.

Millions of Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed.

FACTS ARE WORSE THAN RUMORS

Full Extent of the Havoc Wrought by the Great Storm That Swept Along the Southern Atlantic Coast Is Just Being Learned—Reports From Several Different Cities Tell the Tale of the Disaster.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 1.—A special to The Chronicle from Beaufort, S. C., says: Over 300 dead bodies have been found on the island about Beaufort and Port Royal. Over two millions of property has been wrecked at the same points. Both are the direct result of the storm which swept along the Atlantic coast during Sunday night.

Everyone of the 15 or 20 islands lying around Port Royal and Beaufort are steeped in sorrow. On every doorknob there is a bunch of crepe and upon every hillside there are fresh-made graves, some already filled, while others are awaiting the bodies that will be deposited in them just as soon as some one can be found to do the Christian act of shoveling the dirt upon the coffin.

The benches, the undergrowth trees and shrubbery, the marshes and the inlets are turning up new dead bodies every time an investigation is made. Of the many disasters and devastations which have visited this section of the country, none has been half as horrible as those which came Sunday. Already more than 200 bodies have been found, and those who are at all posted about the country and the habits of the people in the storm-visited section, are confident in their predictions that the death roll will run as high as 500.

Some of the people, and they are among the best people of this section of the state, even place the loss at more than 1,000. There has not been an hour of any day since the early hours of Monday morning that a dead body has not been found at some point on one of the many islands. As the waters recede and the people move deeper into the wreckage gathered by the storm, the ghastly pictures are uncovered.

So frequent are the discoveries that the finding of a single body attracts no attention at all. It takes the discovery of at least a clump of half a dozen or more to induce the people to show any feelings whatever. It is around Beaufort and Port Royal that the death rate was the greatest, but in neither of the towns were many lives lost. Around the two towns there is a complete chain of islands, and it was upon these that the death angel hovered for hours Sunday night, leaving in its path sorrow and desolation greater than ever visited the state before, even in the bloody days of reconstruction. This section of the Atlantic coast has been prolific in storms that scattered death and destruction of property in their wake, but the weather-wise, the oldest citizens, the pilot, can not recall anything equaling it.

Accounts From Columbia.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 1.—Accounts continue to come in of general havoc by Sunday's storm. Thousands of valuable timber trees have been blown down, crops washed away, and the rivers are full of flotsam and jetsam of the disaster. Advice from the sea coast may be summed up in the following extracts from Charleston papers:

The long staple cotton crop has met with a severe injury and the estimates are that wherein former years Charleston received 10,000 bales of sea island cotton, this year she will do well to get 3,000 bales. That is the situation in a nutshell as viewed by those who are in the best position to do any talking. The reports indicate that the sea islands met with the heaviest damage while the uplands fared somewhat better.

Mr. Robinson of Korrison's establishment gives the following story of effects of the storm in the low country: He had just arrived from Walterboro and stated that from Beaufort's place on the Edisto river to Jacksonville, two negroes floated the whole distance on the top of their shanty, and reported that all the negroes on the place in the lowlands had been drowned, in all about 100 men and women and children. They relate a terrible experience and, furthermore, state that all of the dwellings are totally destroyed and the place in abject desolation.

At Walterboro, Mr. Robinson said many of the houses had been completely washed from their foundations out into the streets, and all of the rice fields were overflown.

The steamer Pilot Boy, familiar to every soul on the inland route between the cities of Charleston and Savannah, has been stranded and more or less injured. The Pilot fleet of the harbor is wrecked or stranded.

The phosphate works, which are located on the banks of the neighboring river, are in little better plight than those on Charleston Neck.

Port Royal, lying on a tongue of land further down the Beaufort river, must have been even more exposed to the fury of the tempest. The place is practically in ruins. Its water front has been completely destroyed and great damage has been done to its buildings. The great loss of life which resulted from the storm on every shore of the islands is greatest here, or else it has been more authentically stated. Thirty odd negroes were found dead on the beach, and the number was expected to be largely increased before the death roll was finally closed. It is needless to add that the crops were injured terribly. Fifty per cent loss would probably not be too large an estimate to make.

Several gentlemen from this city, who were in Port Royal or Beaufort during the hurricane, returned to Charleston on the first train, which came into the city over the Charleston and Savannah railway. They report that the loss of life and the destruction of property at those places and neighboring sea islands have been fearful. The death roll had already reached to 80 odd persons, among whom was numbered Dr. Ellis, the newly-appointed quarantine officer for the port.

Paris island, where the United States drydocks are building, and which stands between the Broad and the Beaufort rivers, was swept by the cyclone.

Beaufort, the prettiest island town in the Carolinas, is terribly damaged, notwithstanding the fact that it stands six miles up the Beaufort river. Many of the residences in the town were badly damaged, and the wharves are nearly or quite destroyed.

The experience of Captain Whitely and his wife and family of 10 children on Castle Pinckney, on the night of the storm, was a terrible one. The wind blew the storehouse to pieces and blew away all the ship chandler's stores, and his dwelling was so exposed that it was seen to be dangerous to remain in it. They sought shelter from the fury of the tempest to the leeward of the fort, where they stood out the fury of the storm. Three of the little ones were from 6 months to 2 years of age, and they stood it like the older ones, without a whimper.

The fury of the winds and waves was so great that some huge masses of iron used for holding buoys, and weighing 4,500 pounds, were moved from their places and rolled about the beach. Some great anchors weighing from 4,500 to 6,000 pounds, were flung about the place like so much timber. The place is a complete ruin, and in spite of it all, Captain Whitely and his brave family are still on the castle and holding the fort.

The missing steamship Seminole, about which so much anxiety was felt, steamed into the harbor with scarcely a scratch on her. She and the passengers escaped unscathed from the horrors of the storm. When the Seminole met the hurricane she was off the mouth of the St. John's river, preparing to head in for the entrance. Her officers appreciated the situation and making out to seaward for a considerable distance, turned the vessel's nose into the eye of the cyclone and cast their anchors. The captain said she breasted the water like a duck during the hours of the storm, and was not injured in the least. As soon as the wind had partially lulled, he turned her nose to the St. John's and made his dock in Jacksonville in perfect safety.

Inquiry at the Clyde line office elicited little information regarding the other missing steamer, Yemassee, further than the bare statement that she had left her dock in New York Saturday afternoon. Even her passenger list is unknown. She should have arrived in Charleston at 7 o'clock on the morning of the 29th. The officials of the company do not think the delay necessarily alarming. Even if the Yemassee missed the brunt of the storm, she must have had weather bad enough to throw her far behind time. The Italian bark Vincenzo Galatola, which left this port for Hamburg on the 16th, was abandoned at sea off Hatteras on the 24th. Her sails had blown away, her foretop mast was gone and she was otherwise disabled, when fortunately the whaling schooner Hattie E. Smith, Captain Bourne, which had also suffered damage, came alongside and rescued the crew of the bark.

Ten Bodies Found.

Memphis, Sept. 1.—A special to The Commercial from Jacksonville, Fla., says: Reports of the damage by the storm in the outlying district are coming in slowly. Ten bloated bodies of victims of Sunday's cyclone were discovered in a drift 14 miles from Jacksonville yesterday. The bodies were almost nude, and could not be identified. The damage to fruit trees and orange groves is enormous. In many cases the trees are stripped of every vestige of leaves and fruit. Wires are nearly all down in every direction.

An Appeal For Aid.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 1.—Receiver Averill of the Port Royal and Augusta railroad wires The Chronicle that the loss of life on the Sea Islands, S. C., far exceeds anything yet reported, and will not fall short of 600. Great destitution exists among several thousand remaining inhabitants and urgent appeal is made for aid in shape of provisions, crops and provisions having been entirely destroyed.

Back to Washington.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—President Cleveland, Mrs. Cleveland, Baby Ruth and her nurse, Dr. Bryant, Secretary Lamont and Mrs. Cleveland's maid left for Washington last night on the 9:15 train on the Pennsylvania railroad. The party occupied car No. 60, Vice President Thompson's luxurious coach. Mr. Cleveland certainly did not look like a very sick man as he sat in the car chatting with the doctor before the train pulled out.

READY FOR THE VETERANS.

Indianapolis Fully Prepared to Welcome Her Visitors.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—The final preparations for Grand Army work are about completed. The war ship Kearsarge was launched last night in the capital grounds. The ship has been put in thorough order and the decks are clean and tidy. The internal arrangements have also been made perfect, and will be filled with choice edibles. Admiral Osbon, commanding officer of the Osbon association of navy veterans, is already here.

Medical Director E. S. Elder has made the assignment to the different members of his staff for the encampment week, and all visiting delegates requiring medical attention will be taken care of by the corps surgeons and physicians. The sanitary affairs of the barracks, hospitals and camps will also be under the control of this department. The work of decoration is going on steadily and the down town streets are already a revelation of colors. The fronts of some of the larger buildings are almost hidden from view of flags, heroic sized pictures and drapery.

Several members of the Farnham post, G. A. R. of New York city, have already arrived in this city. They are armed with voluminous reports concerning the circumstances under which the resolutions relating to fraudulent pensioners, which resulted in the expulsion of their post from the organization, were passed, and a vigorous effort will be made to secure reinstatement of the post.

EPIDEMIC OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Patrid Water the Cause of the Disease and Death.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1.—Secretary Probst of the state board of health has returned from Rising Sun, Wood county, and reports that the epidemic of typhoid fever there is due evidently to carelessness and the peculiar geological formation. The town is on a limestone ledge that is one to 10 feet below the surface, and the wells and the closet-vaults go down to the same level, the top of the limestone. Night soil was recently thrown into an unused quarry near town.

The quarry was until now full of water, very putrid and foul. The doctor ordered the water pumped out of the quarry, and when this was done many of the wells in the town went dry, showing that the water from the quarry ran right into them. Mayor Sheffield has issued a proclamation ordering that all water must be boiled before drinking. There have been 24 cases in four weeks.

Bought Out by the Trust.

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 1.—A year ago a cracker company was organized in Muncie with J. D. Williams, David Cammack, E. M. Smith, W. S. Richey, G. W. H. Kemper, J. G. Griffin and F. C. Farquhar as stockholders. An elegant brick factory had nearly been completed, but will now be likely used for something else. The United States Baking company, or cracker trust, has purchased the Muncie concern, in order to prevent competition. B. F. Crawford of Mansfield, O., and two Indianapolis gentlemen, negotiated the deal.

Hotel Destroyed by Fire.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Sept. 1.—The Barnett hotel, one of the leading hotels in this city, burned, the loss being almost total. All of the guests were rescued, but many of them lost their baggage. The employees escaped, but lost their clothing and personal effects. The fire originated in the basement at the rear of the hotel; cause unknown. The insurance is $35,500; $29,000 on building and $6,500 on furniture and fixtures.

Moonshiner Jailed.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 1.—One of the most dangerous moonshiners in this section of the state was jailed here. He is Albie Dameron, 28, and he lives in Logan county. Deputy Marshal Walker and three men surrounded his house, and got in while he was asleep. Three officers guarded him in the city. He pleaded not guilty before the United States commissioner.

Nobody to Blame.

BREWSTER, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The inquest on the Harlem railroad disaster, which occurred near Dykeman's last Saturday, was held at the Brewster House at this place yesterday. The jury exonerated the railroad company from all blame. Assistant Dispatcher Dunn and Operator Wakeman were not held.

A Bill to Restore General Hook.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Representative Caruth has prepared and will introduce a bill providing for the restoration of General Don Carlo Buell of Kentucky to the army, and his subsequent retirement with the rank, pay and emoluments of a brigadier general.

Drunken Husband's Deed.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Sept. 1.—Christ Knost, a florist, while intoxicated, dragged his sick wife, with a week-old infant by her side, from her bed and frantically beat her. It is thought she will die. He also attempted to hang his son.

Made an Assignment.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The Cowles Engineering company, Brooklyn, has made an assignment. The business of the company was the repairing and altering of vessels.

Landscape Painter Dead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—It is learned from private sources that Anton Stover, landscape painter, died recently at The Hague, Holland, at the age of 70.

Cholera in Hungary.

VIENNA, Sept. 1.—In the last 24 hours 135 fresh cases of cholera and 87 deaths have been reported in Hungary.

MISSIONARIES TO INDIA.

The Rev. and Mrs. John Newcomb Start For the Field.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 1.—The Rev. and Mrs. John Newcomb have left Indianapolis for Boston, and on the 9th of next month will sail from New York for India. They will spend three weeks in England, where Mrs. Newcomb's parents live. They return to India as missionaries. Seventeen years ago Mr. Newcomb began his missionary work, and was in India for eight years.

Later he went again, staying four years, returning to America 15 months ago. His wife was an English teacher in India when they were married. Since then she has assisted him in his work of converting the natives. At Cumbum, in southern India, 15 degrees north of the equator and 75 miles west of the Bay of Biscay, they well have headquarters, and will travel over their district sleeping and holding meetings under a tent.

Their district has 4,000 square miles, and contains 100,000 people. Of this number, Mr. Newcomb says, only two out of a hundred have been converted. There is no church in the district, and few in southern India that are self-supporting. Many, however, have native teachers. A sixth of their expenses is required from the missionary money. He says that Mohammedanism has a firm foothold in the country. This retards the progress of Christianity. Yet he has noted wonderful strides during the few years he has been connected with the work.

Mr. Newcomb is a native of Indiana, and has many relatives in Shelby and Morgan counties.

Since the return of Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb from India they have enlisted the interest of Miss Emma Pinney of Porter county, who will follow them, sailing from New York Sept. 30.

TRACK RECORD BROKEN.

Nancy Hanks Toots a Mile in 2:06 3-4 at Fleetwood Park, N. J.

FLEETWOOD PARK, Sept. 1.—Twelve thousand people gathered at Fleetwood track yesterday to see Nancy Hanks race against time for a $5,000 purse and to witness some exceptionally good trotting. The day was perfect, and the track in good condition. Nancy Hanks smashed the track record, and there was a marvellous exhibition of pacing.

After the second race Nancy Hanks, with Budd Doble on the seat, appeared. The queen was cheered by the crowd, and President McMillan of the New York Driving club announced that she would be driven to beat the track record, 2:09 8-4, made yesterday by Lirectum.

At just 4 o'clock Doble said he was ready. Adam Forepaugh, the running mate, with Dixon driving, was out to set her pace.

At 4:02, the mare came flashing down the stretch and Doble got the word. The running mate, half a dozen lengths behind, could not catch up. Nancy skinned by the quarter pole in 81 1-2 seconds. She passed the half in 1:02 1-2. Around the turn went the queen and up the hill near the three-quarters, passing the mark at 1:34 1-2. Then she swung into the home stretch going at a terrific pace. The judges announced the time as 2:06 3-4. This beat the track record.

THE FIGHT OF THEIR LIVES.

Kansas Women Will Make It in the Coming Campaign.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 1.—One of the most aggressive woman's rights campaigns ever fought in this state will be inaugurated today, in response to a call issued by Mrs. Laura M. Johns, president of the Kansas Equal Suffrage association, and delegations of feminine politicians are arriving on every train. The convention will be held in the tabernacle, which has a seating capacity of some 5,000, and will last for two days.

Among those who will address the gathering are Susan B. Anthony, Helen M. Gougar, Mary B. Lease, Carrie Lane Chapin of New York, Emma H. Devoe of Illinois, Sophia H. Grubb and others of equal prominence.

A unique feature of the proceedings will be the active participation of men who are in sympathy with the woman's movement. Mrs. Johns says that the coming campaign will be the greatest crusade for woman's enfranchisement ever inaugurated, and that they propose to continue the fight through the coming winter and complete the victory in the general election of a year from November.

A Turkish Celebration.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—Special festivities were held Thursday in recognition of the 17th anniversary of the commencement of the reign of his imperial majesty, Abdul Hamid, sultan of Turkey. Under the auspices of the imperial Ottoman commissioner general, Ibrahim Hakky Bey, and the imperial Ottoman commissioner, Ahmed Fahri Bey, a celebration was held at the exposition. The principal features of the program were a Mohammedan festival in the Turkish village in Midway Plaisance, a parade of all Mussulmans and those within Turkish jurisdiction to the Turkish pavilion and a grand summer night festival of fete champetre in the Sylvan dell, north of the German government building.

Longshoremen Give It Up.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The strike among the longshoremen is at an end. Thursday morning they relinquished the struggle without gaining a point and applied for work at the various piers at the reduced rates.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 1.—The Flint and Pere Marquette road has reduced all salaries of employees who receive over $50 a month 10 per cent, and those of the president and general manager 15 per cent.

THROUGH A BRIDGE.

Express Train Wrecked on the Boston and Albany Railroad.

THIRTEEN PERSONS KILLED.

A Score of Others Badly Hurt, Several of Whom May Die—The Train Was Running at a Rapid Rate When Hurled Into the Stream—Names of the Identified Dead.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 1.—The Chicago limited express train for Boston broke through a frail iron bridge on the Boston and Albany railroad, one and one-half miles east of Chester, and four Wagner cars were crushed, killing at least 13 persons, fatally injuring several others, while at least a score are badly hurt. The wreck is the worst ever known on the road.

The bridge was being strengthened for big locomotives, and the workmen who were putting on the plates were at dinner when the crash came. The locomotive passed over the structure but the buffet, two two sleepers and a diningcar were smashed to kindling wood, and two cars struck the stream 20 feet below, but the two day coaches and a smoker in the rear did not leave the track.

There has been 13 dead bodies taken out and it is believed that there are two more bodies in the ruins.

The train was seven minutes late at Chester and the railroad hands say it was going at the rate of 20 miles an hour when it struck the first of the two spans across the Westfield river. The locomotive seemed to leap across the bridge as the trusses collapsed and fell over.

The conductor was taking tickets in a day coach, and although thrown violently down, escaped serious injury. There are only a few houses in the vicinity, and a man living near by gave the alarm. In a few moments hundreds were on the scene. The shrieks of the imprisoned were most terrible, and scores of people looked on complacently unmoved. The heroes of the hour were Dr. George K. Wood of Collinsville, who went to the train to meet his wife, and the colored porters and waiters in the diningcar, who, although their faces were bruised and cut and covered with blood, did splendid work.

The village people soon recovered from the shock and were hard at work. The hospital was a group of apple trees in an adjoining orchard, where scores were taken. Ox teams arrived with loads of straw, cushions, bedding and food. The wounded were soon removed to the houses of N. A. Harwood, Washington Moore and S. C. Crocker, and all that remained on the apple-strewn ground, were 13 bodies covered with red blankets from an adjoining stable.

The dead were many of them horribly mutilated, the heads crushed in, limbs torn, and often recognizable only from their clothing. Mr. Scull of Philadelphia, was with his sister, Mrs. Bishop in a Wagner car. She was instantly killed, and he was pinned down, but finally extricated.

T. F. Dewitt of Portland, Me., president of the Union Mutual Life Insurance company, was reading a magazine. M. W. Kirk of Chicago started to sit with him, but, seeing that he was absorbed, excused himself and went in to the rear car and was saved.

Mrs. John Howard of Boston, whose stage name is Hattie Blanchard, was one of the five saved in the sleeper next in front of the dining car, which was the worst wrecked.

The list of the identified dead is: J. E. Dewitt, Portland, Me., president of the Union Mutual Life Insurance company.

T. K. Kelley of Boston. Miss Susie Cotting of Boston.

Mrs. C. B. Isham of Philadelphia. Miss Emma DeLorty of Columbia, Ohio.

H. C. Ives of Chicago. Frank Sedgwick of Palmer.

Express Messenger John McMasters of Springfield.

Brakeman J. H. Murry of Greenbush, N. Y.

Baggage-master George W. Moore of Boston.

Wagner car conductor, J. C. Stackpole of Hartford.

R. C. Hitchcock of Bellows Falls, Vt. There were about 15 seriously injured, and five or six may die.

Superintendent Cone of Chester, who has charge of the mountain division of the road, took charge of the wreck, and with the assistance of the extra engines and section hands here, did much toward clearing away the wreck before the arrival of the wreckers from Springfield.

The scene of the accident is but a short distance below Chester, and is just below the steep grade going up the mountain.

The bridge was a two span lattice structure, 221 feet long, and was built in 1874 by the Hawkins Iron works and had been recently repaired but was not properly braced to withstand the weight of a heavy train. The ill-fated train was one of the fastest expresses on the road, stopping only at Pittsfield from Albany to Springfield. It carried the largest engine and best cars of any train running west of Springfield.

Freight Train Wrecked.

BRENNHAM, Tex., Sept. 1.—A south-bound freight train loaded with merchandise, was wrecked and partly burned about 10 miles from here, on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe. A prairie fire had burned a long piece of track, and as the train came rushing along at the rate of 80 miles an hour, it rushed into a bridge spanning a wide creek. Jack Syanson, the engineer, was killed.

There is no possible excuse for deception, and the public has become so disgusted with it that every statement from the attending physicians of sick men in high positions is discredited. If the people can not be trusted with the truth under such circumstances it would be better to tell them nothing. If Mr. Cleveland is really a very sick man, the people who elected him and who believe him to be an honest and conscientious executive have the best right to know it. They are interested in his welfare, because they have good reason to believe that his taking off during his term of office would be little short of a public calamity." "Mr. Cleveland is a straightforward man, who despises deception and pretense. If the public is deceived as to his condition it will not be his fault, but the mistaken policy of those who assume to control him. No possible good can come from falsehood under such circumstances." "Medical men are properly reticent about the condition of their patients, but a decent regard for the proprieties of the sick room and the sacred relation of physician and patient cannot excuse such wholesale lying as has been indulged in in such cases in the past. It would be better to tell the public nothing than to issue daily bulletins of falsehood, as has been so often done." SAVOYARD, the Courier-Journal's correspondent says of Bourke Cochrane's recent speech in Congress: "It was a grand speech, the ablest and the most eloquent I ever heard. I do not believe that Burke, or Curran, or Grattan, or O'Connell ever surpassed it. The vast audience was as still as a church congregation, except when they greeted some magnificent period with a round of applause, and it was the most intelligent and critical audience that ever greeted an orator in this country. Once in awhile he glanced at the Speaker's gallery, where sat his wife beside Mrs. Carlisle. No other woman in America was as proud as she; for that day her husband was dubbed not only the first orator, but the first debater in Congress. What a marvelous voice is his, what a leonine presence! He looks the lion that he is. That voice can roar like the king of beasts and be as dulcet as the dove's love coo. And this man is under forty years of age. What will he be when he has the experience and the study that comes to such a man at fifty? Perhaps, with less genius than Swift, less imagination than Burke, less force than O'Connell, he is already, in his youth, the most precious gift Ireland has bestowed on America, and America should and will treasure it." The Louisville Times says: "Fred Douglass says this country doesn't give the negro any show, yet Fred has grown rich off the spoils of office and has a red-headed white woman for a wife. Douglas, do you yearn for the whole earth?" To Cleanse the System Effectually, yet gently, when constive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers use Syrup of Figs. Excursion to Woodsdale Island. A special through train will leave Maysville at 8:40 a. m. Sunday, September 3, 1893, on account of the celebrated Duckworth Club outing, arriving at 12:10 p. m. Returning train leaves Woodsdale at 6:30 p. m. Round trip only $1.30. Don't fail to take advantage of the low rates and visit the Island in its gala day of the season, where you will be entertained by the hotel ducks, whose hospitality as royal entertainers are second to none in the States. For further information see small bills or nearest station agent. Will Contest the Race. W. C. French, owner of Frenchie, the fast three-year-old mare defeated by Grannette in the Smith stake at Maysville last week, will contest the race before the National Trotting Board on the ground that Grannette was not eligible to start because his owner failed to make payments at proper time. The last payment was never made, but the horse was allowed to start. When the names of the entries were issued that of Grannette did not appear. The reports of the race gave Nellie Chatterton as the winner, which proves something was wrong. The purse was for $1,000, and, as Frenchie was second, her owner claims, under the existing rules of the National Trotting Association, that he is entitled to sixty per cent. of the purse.

What is a Kindergarten?

This oft-repeated question deserves a plain, explicit answer, that a correct knowledge of it may be accorded those seeking information.

Kindergarten—a garden of children—Fröbel—"the discoverer of the method of Nature"—meant to symbolize by the name, the spirit and plan of treatment.

To consider every child a plant to be studied as to his individual nature, and put into such circumstances of soil and atmosphere as will enable him to grow, flower, and bring forth fruit.

To awaken his perceptive faculties by the observation of tangible surroundings; to cultivate the innate music of his soul to hear and comprehend "the mighty sum of things forever speaking" to lead up to the mastery of material objects by the training in manual dexterity; in short to systematically develop head, heart and hand—the intellectual, moral, and physical nature of the child into one harmonious whole.

This can only be done in the kindergarten, where the child during two or three years has been educated strictly within the sense Fröbel applies to the word "education"—that is a drawing forth or cultivation of the powers of the mind.

It has been objected sometimes that kindergarten work is nothing but play; well it was Fröbel's wisdom to accept the natural activity of childhood, as a hint of divine providence, and to utilize its spontaneous play for education. He tells us "in childish play deep meaning lies;" for "play is child's most earnest work." Therefore it becomes the kindergarten's pleasant duty to gently direct it to a more certainly beautiful effect than it can attain when left to itself.

The child is received into the kindergarten usually in the period of perception—a very impressionable period, and one characterized by great activity of the life forces both inward and outward, therefore the aim is to unfold, instruct and train; to educate on all sides. This is to be done by directing the growing right habits—habits of right observing, right feeling, right thinking, and right acting—habits of neatness, order, industry, work, cheerfulness, happiness, freedom, morality and right living. Habit is the all-powerful, all-prevailing, all-controlling agency in human life and education. It is through this agency that the kindergarten largely molds the character, and influences the whole nature of the child.

By music—the keynote of this method of instruction—by songs and games, by the "gifts and occupations," the three-fold nature of the child develops. He is led by easy gradation, step by step, from the simple to the complex, from the solid body to the object in outline, really from the concrete to the borders of the abstract. He "learns by doing," which has become the watchword of the kindergarten; for Rousseau tells us, "the child may forget what he sees or what you tell him, but he never forgets what he does himself."

Has the veil, before the eyes of those not seeing, of the frown of doubt from the brow of those not wishing to believe, been lifted by these few words from a KINDERGARTNER.

MANY men think that newspapers are duffers. By the way of comparison, let us suppose that a farmer raises a thousand bushels of wheat a year, and sells to two thousand persons in all parts of the country, a great portion of them saying, "I will hand you a dollar in a short time." Soon the one thousand bushels are gone, but he has nothing to show for it, and then he realizes that he has fooled away his whole crop, and its value due in a thousand little dribbles, consequently he is seriously embarrassed in his business, because his debtors, each owing him a dollar, treat it as a small matter and think it would not help much. Continue this kind of business the year around as the publisher does, how long will he stand it? A moment's thought will convince any one that a publisher has cause for persistent dunning.—National Labor Tribune.

In the County Court this morning G. W. Blatterman, County Superintendent of Public Schools, together with L. C. Blatterman, C. B. Pearce, Jr., and Emory Whitaker, his sureties, came into court and entered into and acknowledged bond unto the Commonwealth in the sum of $10,117, conditioned according law.

1793 Ballots.

The Republican convention at Ironton, Ohio to nominate a candidate for the vacancy in Congress caused by the death of Congressman W. H. Enoch, was lively and stormy. Ballot after ballot had been taken for several days without result and for a time the outlook seemed hopeless. The deadlock, however, was broken on the 1793rd ballot when the Hon. H. S. Bundy, of Jackson County received 58 votes and the nomination.

The nominee is the father-in-law of ex-Governor Foraker.

BISHOP NEWMAN, of Omaha, has just returned from South Africa, where he made the annual examination into the condition of the missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He says: "I found our church has property worth about 700,000. From fifty to seventy-five men are engaged in teaching or preaching. There are 4,000 communicants and about 15,000 adherents of the Methodist Church. In Buenos Ayres I saw 2,000 Spanish children at a Methodist Sunday school. The constitutions of the Republics—or most of them, at least—favor the Catholic Church, but the Liberal party in most of them is opposed to the union of the Church and the State. Because of the growth of this liberal sentiment, there are evasions of the constitutional requirements that the Catholic Church shall be the recognized church. Two or three illustrations of this occurred during my visit. At Lima I wanted to preach, and on consulting the authorities found I would not be allowed to preach in Spanish, but might preach in English. In Uruguay, as the constitution did not specify against the Methodist form of worship, I was allowed to preach."

PROF. CHAS. RAINER, a snake charmer at the Lexington fair in a sideshow, was feeding the snake and carelessly rubbed his hand along its back. This angered the snake and it suddenly coiled itself, and before Rainer could run it sunk its fangs in his hand. The stinging caused him such intense pain that he was almost crazed, and he screamed and shouted like a maniac. Whisky was procured, and he willingly imbibed a large quantity. The liquor soon gave him relief, and he was removed to High Oaks Sanitarium and afterward to St. Joseph's Hospital. Rainer will recover if some unexpected trouble does not set in. He says he will get a new job when he gets on his feet again.

THE Mt. Sterling City Council has decided that the following city officers should be elected by the people: Mayor; City Judge; City Attorney and Chief of Police. Under the new constitution the City Council could have elected all city officers, but they thought it best that these four offices should be settled by the people. The salary of the Mayor was fixed at $100 per year; that of City Judge $900; City Attorney $900; Chief of Police, $600, and legal fees. The balance of the city officers will be elected by the Council.

THE CELEBRATED JOHN VAN RANGES.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

Proceedings of Both Branches of the National Congress.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The speech of Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Colo.) against the bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act was delivered yesterday in the presence of almost all the senators and of a large audience in the galleries. The most telling parts of it, and those that amused and interested its hearers most, were some humorous and sarcastic touches in which he depicted the conversion of Democratic statesmen from their belief in silver and their devotion to bimetalism to the gold monometallism faith of the president.

The next speech was on the opposite side of the question and was made by Mr. Caffrey, the successor of Mr. Gibson of Louisiana. It was his first appearance in the senate as a speaker, but the speech was remarkable as a pronounced declaration in favor of unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, although he admitted that the position so taken by him might not meet the approval of his state, and might put a bar to his further political career.

The resolution offered last week by Mr. Peffer (Pop., Kan.) in reference to national banks refusing to pay checks of their depositors in currency, was taken up and against his opposition and that of a score of other senators, was referred to the finance committee by a vote of 35 to 21.

In the House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—"Thrashing over old straw" was the amusement which the house indulged in yesterday. The rules of the Fifty-third Congress were relegated to the back ground, and the rules of the Fifty-first congress came in for the chief part of the discussion. No new charges were made and no new answers were interjected, but Mr. Reed was kept upon his feet almost continuously justifying the propriety of his course when he occupied the chair.

The banking and currency and the coinage weights and measures committees were granted leave to report at any time; and these were the only noteworthy changes made in the new code. But there is an amendment still pending that if adopted, may be found to be far-reaching in its effects. It was offered by Mr. Boatner of Louisiana, and provides for a practical cloture whenever a member in charge of a measure on the floor, sees fit to ask for it. No action was taken on this amendment before adjournment.

Only Got to the Gate.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1.—Tom G. Blaine, a horethief, was released from the penitentiary Wednesday, and arrested at the gate for another crime.
